Care Property Invest acquires first Irish healthcare project

Schoten, Belgium – Monday 28 February 2022

Following the signing that took place on 18 February 2022, Care Property Invest has proceeded last Friday with the effective acquisition of 'Ballincurig Care Centre', an existing residential care centre in Ballincurig (County Cork). The project has a total capacity of 55 residential places and has a conventional value of approximately € 6.2 million.

The project is operated by Silver Stream Healthcare Group, one of the largest providers of residential care for older people in Ireland, on the basis of a new long-term leasehold agreement of the 'triple net' type with a minimum duration of 25 years (renewable and annually indexable) and will generate additional income for the Company as of today.

Peter Van Heukelom, CEO of Care Property Invest;

'With the acquisition of Ballincurig Care Centre, Care Property Invest adds a fourth healthcare property market to its portfolio to further shape its growth story. We believe that Ireland has considerable investment potential as a number of favourable parameters coincide. Ireland is already struggling with a shortage of nursing home beds, while a large ageing population is also on its doorstep. Moreover, this demand is further fuelled by an ageing portfolio of existing healthcare infrastructure, which needs to be renovated or redeveloped to meet current regulatory standards. We are proud to announce this first step in our Irish growth trajectory and to further expand this success story in the near future, based on the joint statement of intent between Care Property Invest and Silver Stream Healthcare.'

Tom Finn, CEO Silver Stream Healthcare Group Limited;

'We are delighted to partner with Care Property Invest to support their international expansion, and our own exciting growth plans, and welcome their team to Ireland. We look forward to building a strong and trusted long-term partnership. We look forward to continuing to grow and provide premium quality care to all residents across our projects throughout Ireland.'

The operator

Silver Stream Healthcare takes over the operations of the centre. Silver Stream is an Irish company that owns and manages a growing number of nursing homes across Ireland.

It is one of the largest independent providers of in-patient premium quality care for elderly people in Ireland, providing personalised in-patient long-term care, respite care and nursing care to over 340 residents, across seven nursing homes and has close ties to the local communities it serves. Silver Stream was founded in 1993, is led by the CEO, Tom Finn and is headquartered in Ratoath, County Meath.

With the addition of Ballincurrig Care Centre to their portfolio, Silver Stream Healthcare Group, is expanding its geographic footprint and will, including this project, operate 8 residential care centres with a total capacity of 397 beds.

The transaction

The transaction took place in the form of an asset deal. Care Property Invest acquired the real estate of this project through its Irish subsidiary, Care Property Invest Emerald Ltd.

The Irish healthcare property market

In summary, the attraction of investing in the Irish healthcare property market lies in a rapidly ageing population, the (already existing) shortage of nursing home beds, the opportunities offered by this relatively immature market, a solid financing system by the Irish government and a consolidation trend at operator level.

The growth potential of the Irish healthcare property market is driven by a number of parameters that reinforce each other.

For instance, Ireland has a relatively young population, for which an accelerated ageing wave is predicted by 2051. For example, the Central Bureau for Statistics estimates that the population aged 65 and over will increase by 145% between 2016 and 2051. For people aged 80 and over, an increase of no less than 347% is predicted over the same period.

This ageing wave goes hand in hand with high life expectancy. It currently stands at 82.5 years (men and women combined) and is expected to rise further.

The predicted growth in these age groups will necessitate a large increase in the number of nursing home beds in the country. With a total of 32,000 residential places available in its residential care centres, Ireland already faces a capacity shortage, according to the World Health Organisation (WHO). This equates to only 4.3 beds per hundred people aged 65 or over, compared to the WHO's minimum figure of 5. By 2026, there will already be a shortage of about 5,500 residential places. By 2031, an additional 7,500 residential places will have to be created in order to meet the growing demand for elderly care.

In addition, a significant number of public residential care centres are very outdated, which means they do not meet the stringent quality standards imposed by the Health Information and Quality Authority (HIQA) for 2021. These residential care centres will have to be rebuilt or renovated in the coming years. If the cost-benefit ratio is not as it should be, they may even have to close, which in turn creates additional opportunities for the private healthcare real estate market. Also, when it comes to introducing alternative forms of living such as assisted living, a concept that is still completely unknown to the Irish care sector, the playing field is now more open than ever.

As far as operators are concerned, Ireland is traditionally a very fragmented market with small-scale players, where a consolidation process has noticeably started in recent years and will continue in the years to come. For example, several international players have recently found their way into the Irish market.

Care Property Invest would like to reconfirm its desire to expand its real estate portfolio in the future with health care infrastructure in Belgium, The Netherlands, Spain, Ireland as well as elsewhere in the European Economic Area.
